JANSEN THE ILLUSIONIST WILL APPEAR AT THE POPULAR THEATER

The great Jansen, who will head a mammoth vaudeville company at the Popular theater, commencing Thanksgiving night, Nov. 26.

Jansen, the illusionist, as he appears on the bill, is in Honolulu, three and one-half years out of San Francisco—but going home—and has been prevailed upon by the Popular theater to appear there from Thanksgiving day, November 26. Three years ago Jansen appeared in this city and since that time he has mystified the Antipodes and Orient—the place where magic is supposed to have originated—with his sleight of hand and illusions. He has also endeavored to discover some of the notorious tricks of the Indian jugglers and thereby hangs a tale.

During his stay in India he tried to find some performer of the trick in which a fakir throws a rope into the air and then sends a boy climbing up it out of sight. None could do it nor could any eyewitnesses be found, only their distant relatives. Finally, in Australia, Jansen met "Daddy" Lyons, the oldest advance man in the southern hemisphere, and he solved the problem. He had been told of a wonderful Hindu trick wherein a man butts his head against a piece of timber, seems to melt into the solid wood and come out on the other end.

"I wanted to go them one better," said Daddy Lyons, "so I told them of the Hindu throwing the rope into the air and climbing up it into the sky, sort of a Jack and the Beanstalk proposition, don't you know, but they swallowed it and soon the yarn began to be printed with various trimmings until finally I did not know it myself."

Jansen will end a most successful world tour here at the Popular, where he will present some of the illusions and sleight of hand work, which latter is so clever that an insurance company wrote policies aggregating $10,000 upon his hands, $2000 a finger. Miss Edna Herr will appear in his company, besides other notable vaudeville artists. One of the tricks in which she figures has to do with locked boxes, the "great triple mystery," it is called. Some of the crew of the Siberia, on which the party went to Shanghai, crowded around her one day in the trunk room and

MASQUERADE BALL ON SKATES BIG EVENT OF THANKSGIVING EVE

"A large time" is the way the prospective participants are talking about the grand masquerade ball on roller skates which will be the feature at the Honolulu skating rink tomorrow evening. A large time is what they expect and from all indications a large time will be had.

This novelty has been the talk of the rapidly increasing family of skaters ever since it was announced and with the nomination of a mammoth list of excellent prizes, published elsewhere in this issue, the interest is becoming intense.

Many elaborate costumes have been planned for this event and it is anticipated that special care will now be taken in an effort to secure one of the many valuable prizes. A banner crowd is looked for by the management.

The skating matinees are proving most popular and many Honoluluans are taking up this healthy exercise. Each morning from 10:30 until noon there are a number of instructors on the job, while during the afternoon and evening sessions the instructors are kept busy. Messrs. Lewis D. Tyler, H. S. Guy, Rhaines Lewis and J. J. Fitzgerald, all expert skaters from the mainland, are in charge of the instruction work and are much gratified with the rapid strides being made by local people.

on the firing line. Thousands of applications poured into the Red Cross headquarters. It is stated that the same condition also applied to the nurses who were prompt in responding to the call for assistants. Dr. Keller will resume his practice in this city.

DR. KELLER IS BACK, TOO MANY M. D. VOLUNTEERS

Finding that more than 2000 physicians from all quarters of the United States were enrolled on a waiting list to serve the American Red Cross Society in its relief work at the European war zone, Dr. Carl Keller, who left Honolulu some weeks ago to offer his services, returned to the islands in the Matson steamer Wilhelmina today.

Dr. Keller found a complete and well equipped organization for the relief of stricken victims of a great war now raging on the continent of Europe. At New York as well as many points in Great Britain and on the continent, the minutest detail in the execution of aid has received attention. An abundance of supplies are now reaching the front.

Medical men from many cities on the mainland were eager for service when she produced a bunch of keys to unlock her baggage, backed off in great disgust, chattering in Chinese, which she afterward learned was in effect, "She great woman on stage, open locked box, no got key. Why she no empty baggage box same fashion?"

Jansen denies the statement that business is bad throughout the Far East and says that from Melbourne to Manila the people seem to be prosperous, the latter city even after the war temporarily cut off all its exports. He says he will give his best to Honolulu as he stays only a short time, and would like to show those who attended his performance three years ago how much better it is now.

R. K. Bonine has placed upon exhibition in a window of the Hollister Drug Co., a beautiful colored photo of Kilanea, showing "Old Faithful" in all its picturesque grandeur. This photo was ordered by the Hilo Board of Trade for a board of trade in the states, where it will be sent shortly. Mr. Bonine is a real artist in this special line of photography.—Adv.
